THE WEATHER.

The tropical storm is now central over western Pennsylvania with an almost total loss of energy. There was, however, a secondary development during Thursday night over southeastern Virginia and this is now off the coast with rising soring winds from Hatteres to Block Island.

The rain area from this storm in the nest 4 hours covers the greater portion of the country east of the Mississippi river except the states immediately adjoining the upper lake region and northern New England.

There will be rain Saturday from New Jersey northward followed by fair weather Sunday.

It will be somewhat warmer Sunday in the northern interior districts. Storm warnings are displayed on the Atlantic coast from Delaware Breakwater to Portland.

The winds along the north Atlantic coast will be strong east to northeast winds or moderate gales; middle Atlantic strong shifting.

Clothing Dealers Began Early Closing Movement For Winter Months-Trinity Church Rector Left For Washington -Universalists Looking For a Pastor - Chester and Uncas Baseball Teams to Play For $25 Prize at Fair Grounds.

The 11th annual fair of the New London County Agricultural Society, the first annual exhibition of the Norwich Horticultural society and the Norwich Horticultural society and the observance of the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Central Baptist church were the chief happenings in Norwich fifty years ago this week. The same week the local clothing dealers inaugerated an early closing system for the winter months and Miss F. M. Calkine was just completing her highory of the City of Norwich. Extracts from the files of the Bulletin of 1865 are as follows:

Monday, Sept. 25, 1855.—The clothing dealers have initiated the carry closing movement for the winter. The long winter evenings will soon be upon us and our merchants generally will find it to their 25th anniversary came off in the lecture room on Tuesday evening and was very largely attended by present and former members. Some thirty or forty members were present, who had come from abroad. The early part of the evening was spent in exchange of greetings and congratulations and the remainder of the evening was passed in listening to addresses. The occurrence with the follows:

Catastrophe in Charcoel.

Thursday, Sept. 25, 1865.—A charcoal cart loaded up full went whiring through Water street yesterday forenoon distributing charcoal in the loose est possible way on both sides of the street. It was followed after a while on us and our merchants generally will find it to their advantage, morally, sociably and intellectually to fail in with the plant and give themselves and their clerks a langer breathing time between their days of labor.

Going to Washington Parish. Rev. J. V. Lewis, late rector of Trinity church, preached yesterday afternoon his farewell sermon to the church, preparatory to leaving for his new field of labor in Washington, D. C. His text was taken from Acts XX:25. We are glad to learn that a part of the duty of the new police is to see that the sidewalks are kept clear of merchandise, litter and other ob-structions. This filling up of half the sidewalks with barrels, boxes, furni-ture and drygoods has come to be a first class nuisance.

Tuesday, Sept. 25, 1865.—A meeting of the members of the Universalist society was held at the church last evening to take into consideration the subject of supplying the pulpit lately vacated by the Rev. R. P. Ambler. The meeting unanimously expressed a preference for Rev. J. B. Johnson, formerly of Maryland. The meeting being informal the matter of calling Mr. Johnson will be determined at a future parish meeting. Ball Clubs to Meet.

Meetings of both the Chester and Uncas baseball clubs were held last evening, at which it was voted to contest for the prize offered by the New London County Agricultural society and committees were appointed to make all necessary arrangements. DIVORCE IS GRANTED

Divorce on the grounds of desertion as claimed was granted to George W. MacComber of Voluntows from Alice M. MacComber of the same place according to a decision given by Judge Gardiner Greene on Friday. The case was tried before him last June in the April additional assaicn of the superior court and counsel directed to file briefs.

The marriage of these parties took place on January 1, 1818, and lived together in the same house till the defendant left the plaintiff on June 17, 1918. Action was brought by write dated august 18, 1918, through Shields & Shields as attorneys for the petitioner.

In his memorandum of decision. Judge Greene says that the actual cessation of the parties to live in the same house occurred only about two months before suit was brought. The plaintiff, however, claims that defendant's conduct amounted to a "desertion with total neglect of all the duttes of the marriage contract" from the time of marriage. For two and a half years after the marriage the parties boarded and for about two years thereafter, until their physical separation, they kept house. During Catastrophe in Charcoal.

Thursday, Sept. 25, 1865.—A charcoal cart loaded up full went whirling through Water street yesterday forenoon distributing charcoal in the loosest possible way on both sides of the street. It was followed after a while by a solemn looking driver, who tried to gather up the load again by hand. Where his team stopped we can't say maybe, it's going yet.

The first annual fair of the Norwich Horticultural society opened at Breed hall. Wednesday afternoon, under most favorable auspices. The display of fruit was superb, far exceeding anything of the kind ever before seen in this city. It was remarked of the grapes by gentlemen who visited the Boston show a few days previous, that while the latter display was larger it was inferior in quality to that in Breed hail.

Friday, Sept. 29, 1865.—The amount of property put down on the lists as owned by colored people in Norwich is $54.135. Of course this does not progress for the town elections on stand for the full actual value of the real exists. It looks as if nearly with the parties boarded and for about two years thereafter, until their physical separation, they kept house.
